CALIFORNIA 'CARAVAN ACT' INVALID

F.D.R. Asks Sugar Quota Financed by Excise Tax

NO INCREASE IN CONSUMER COST SEEN

Urges Control System Ban Child Labor And Set Minimum Wage

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt proposed to congress today the enactment of a sugar quota system financed by an excise tax on raw sugar.

The tax, the President said in a special message, should be not less than three-fourths of one cent a pound on sugar, raw value.

"I am definitely advised," Mr. Roosevelt said, "that such a tax would not increase the average cost of sugar to consumers."

Mr. Roosevelt recommended that in evolving a new control system, provision should be made for preventing child labor and establishing a minimum wage standard.

The Jones-Costigan act, which expired last December, but was continued in principle through this year, authorized the secretary of agriculture to allot the estimated annual sugar consumption of the country among beet and cane domestic producers and such "off-shore" producers as those in Hawaii, the Philippines and similar insular possessions.

The act originally became law as an amendment to the Agricultural Adjustment act. Certain provisions, principally that imposing a processing tax, became inoperative last year.

P. O. INCOME SKYROCKETS

An all-time record in postal receipts for the month of February had been set today by the Santa Ana postoffice.

Reflecting improved business conditions in this city, postal receipts for the first two months of the new year showed a decided gain over the first two months of last year, it was revealed by Postmaster Frank R. Harwood.

Receipts for the first two months of this year aggregated $26,540.09, as compared with $25,450.71 for the same period in 1936. This was a gain of $1,089.38 for the two-month period.

Last month the receipts totaled $14,087.42, as compared with $11,735.09 for February of last year, a gain of $2,352.33. The highest February prior to last month was in 1935, when the total was but $12,413.91. Last month's figures beat the prior record by nearly $2,000.

The month of March usually exceeds February in postal receipts, Postmaster Harwood said. He anticipates a record quarter for the first three months of this year.

Balboa Hop Puts Fox Trot in Ash Can

By BOB GUILD
The fox-trot, girls, is as extinct as the dodo.

Today it's the Balboa Hop. If you're under 21 I'm not talking to you. But if you're of the generation just behind that—if you have a home and a baby and a husband, then this will be news.

The fox-trot has joined the Schottische and the Polka and the Turkey Trot. Today it's the Balboa Hop.

You ought to take a run down to Balboa some time and see for yourself. This is the place where the Southern California Glide originated, where the Sun-Tan Skip and Jump first saw light of day, where the fast break and the cut-away blossomed.

Crisis Averted! F. D. R. Now to Get Varied Breakfasts

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt disclosed today that a threatened domestic crisis has been averted at the White House.

The President didn't like it when he got the same thing for breakfast several days running during her absence last week, she said.

A "breakfast and lunch reorganization" was the result. Upon her return, Mrs. Roosevelt said she submitted 20 menus to her husband. Now, there's satisfactory variety in his meals, he reports. For lunch today he selected stuffed crabs.

PARTY FINDS LOST GIRL

Florence Stotter, Long Beach, Spends Night in Canyon

Object of an all night search by forest rangers, fire guards, sheriff's deputies and a crew of 25 camp laborers, Florence Stotter, 19-year-old Long Beach Junior college student, was found unharmed at 6 o'clock this morning in the wilds above Silverado canyon.

She had spent the night walking mountain trails in an attempt to find her way back to Rome's Sandbrook camp, from where she had left at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon for a short hike.

Forest rangers were first notified at 8:30 o'clock last night by Miss Stotter's father, when she failed to return to the camp.

They immediately launched a search, fearing she might have stumbled into a ravine or otherwise hurt herself. By 3 a. m. the searching crew had been augmented to several scores, with the addition of Sheriff Logan Jackson and eight deputies.

Miss Stotter was just below the snow line, on a trail leading to Saddleback, when found.

She told rescuers that after becoming lost she had searched until finding a trail, then continued along it most of the night. Part of the time she slept, she said.

Sheriff Jackson said she apparently was unharmed by her experience.

S.A. Boy Accused Of Grand Theft

A 17-year-old Santa Ana school boy was in the county jail today facing charges of grand theft, following his arrest at his home yesterday.

The boy was given a traffic citation Feb. 19, when California Highway Patrolman Dan Adams arrested him for "jumping" a boulevard stop in Westminster.

Investigation disclosed yesterday the car he was driving had been reported stolen, and police arrested the youth.

He admitted the theft when questioned in the police station, prior to being booked at the county jail. His name is being withheld by The Journal because of his youth.

BOARD FACES SIX MAJOR PROBLEMS

Water, Smudge Nuisance And Potters' Field Are on List

Six major questions today confront the board of supervisors—a seventh will be tossed in their laps tomorrow.

The seventh is to be revealed by the planning commission, but the other six are open questions, due to be resolved.

What is the county going to do about its high-priced flood control lobbyist—George Malone of Los Angeles and San Francisco?

What is the county going to do about the threat of other counties dumping their worn-out orchard heaters here?

How about the demanded "gun-club" ordinance, the juvenile coordinating council and the county travel study?

Is anything going to be done soon about the condition of Orange county's Potters' field where the poor are buried? Supervisor N. E. West was appointed a committee of one to investigate the burial ground, reported to be in a state of dilapidation, and report to the board.

The board failed to agree last week about its flood control lobbyist. Chairman Willard Smith touched off a bit of an explosion when he told the board he expected a communication soon from army engineers or Congressman Harry Sheppard relative to the flood control plan, and asked for the return of Malone to Washington, at $50 per diem, in interests of the project.

Malone recently returned from Washington with word that he had failed to secure a hearing on the flood control question, largely because of the time he spent in the state capital.

SEEK KILLERS OF LAGUNAN

Mexican rurales still were searching today for bandits who robbed and murdered Tallentyne Sturtevant, Laguna Beach man, whose body was found last Wednesday beside a road leading to the Tigo mine near Cananea, Sonora, Mexico.

Sturtevant, whose wife and three children were staying in Laguna, was ambushed and robbed of the mine payroll, it was reported.

The murdered man was the son of the late Benjamin Sturtevant, San Anselmo, Calif., who owned extensive silver and coffee properties in Mexico.

French Ship Hits Spanish Mine

PALAMOS, Spain. (AP)—The French steamer Marie Therese le Borgne reported today she had struck a mine six miles off Cape San Sebastian.

The vessel's report declared she was seriously damaged but probably could reach Palamos harbor, sealed and delivered in rolled-up pants.

But actually the confirmed Balboaite never takes his feet off the floor. He shuffles. He wiggles his feet, buckles his knees and undulates his posterior. From the waist up he is as he was.

The Balboa Hop is purely a waist-down exercise. And it's most amazing.

Saturday night in Balboa there were 1000 young people on the dance floor and 100 oldsters ranging up to the incredible ages of 30 and 35. The oldsters, alas, still fox-trotted. The rest of them Balboa Hopped.

They evidently have no arches, no desire for rest, no need for sleep.

Fate in Doubt

Rosita Diaz (above), Spanish film actress who has appeared in pictures in Hollywood, was reported executed as a spy by a firing squad in Spain in reports from the war-torn nation, but word received Saturday by her close friend in the film capital, Rosita Moreno, was to the effect that she was alive and well. Her fate, however, is still in doubt. (Associated Press Photo)

TWO SURVIVE PLANE CRASH

American Is Victim in Australia Tragedy; Five Lives Lost

SYDNEY, Australia. (AP)—Rescuers today reached two starved, desperate survivors of the Sydney-Brisbane airliner crash that snuffed out five lives eight days ago in the wild, sparsely settled McPherson range, 60 miles south of Brisbane.

A second rescue party, bearing needed medical aid, was cutting through the thickly timbered country toward the two men who survived without food since the liner disappeared in a storm Feb. 10.

The two pilots and three other passengers, including William Fountain of New York, were dead.

Found By Farmer
A farmer named O'Reilly found the two men Sunday, their last hopes gone, writing farewell messages near the burned wreckage of the plane near the southern border of Queensland. Both were in serious condition.

The first interest of the two men, ardent cricket fans, was the England-Australia test matches now in progress. "What's the score?" they asked O'Reilly.

One of the men, named Proud, had a broken leg, and the other, identified as Binstead, was too weak to aid his injured companion. They said the liner crashed in a severe storm soon after leaving Brisbane.

Four Killed Instantly
The two pilots and two of the passengers, including Fountain, were killed instantly. A third passenger, J. G. Westray, was injured, but fell to his death from a cliff in the darkness while trying to summon aid.

(William Fountain, the American victim of the crash, was a building supervisor for the New York firm of Thomas W. Lamb Company, and had been engaged in Australian work for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. His wife and two children were in Brisbane when the crash occurred.)

It is a phenomena purely local. It is a hop, wiggle, strut and jump, tossed in with a glide and three-point landing.

It is sweeping the nation. Next year at this time they'll be Balboa Hopping in Scappoose, Ore., Saskatchewan, Paris, Ind., and New York.

But by that time the confirmed Balboaite will be doing a new kind of ocean-front osteopathy. He'll call it the Peninsula France, or the Mainland Mangle or the Bay Front Bustout.

The Balboa Hop will be tossed in the can with the fox-trot, and the Schottische, and the Polka and the Bunny-Hug.

But today—Mabel, you ought to see it!

County Taxes $525,000 Up From Low 1934 Mark

STATE LEAGUE MAKES CHECK ON LEVIES

End of Depression Is Given As Reason For Increase

Orange county's tax burden is on the increase. It jumped $525,000 last year from the low set in 1934, figures released today by the California Taxpayers' league show.

Total taxes levied by the county, schools and special districts of Orange county were $4,133,894 in 1936-1937, as compared with a low point of $3,608,094 in 1934-1935. These figures do not include taxes levied by cities.

For the year 1935-1936 they were $4,268,719, slightly higher than for the past year. However, the trend since 1931 definitely shows the tax burden to be increasing.

Causes for Drop
"Demands for tax reduction in 1933 and 1934, together with the changes in the tax system brought about by the Riley-Stewart constitutional amendments, the fact that the depression was still severe, and valuations were still decreasing, caused decreases in tax levies in most counties and districts," the association reported.

"However, with the coming of 1935-1936, the business of tax levying received a powerful stimulus from two sources. The bottom of the depression seemed well past and the urge of local governments to increase their spending was becoming insistent. In addition, there was a great increase in local assessed valuations, as further result of the Riley-Stewart amendment."

Levies Rise Sharply
"Local officials enjoyed the first real break they had in years: they could increase the tax levy without increasing the tax rate. The tax levies of 1936 and 1937 show plainly the effect of this release of pressure. With few exceptions, the levies for general county purposes and current school purposes have risen sharply, and school districts are rapidly increasing their tax demands to a point where the benefits of the abolition of the general county school tax in 1934 will be entirely wiped out."

Taxes for general county current purposes during the five year period reached their low of $1,088,839 in 1934-35, and had gone to $1,102,200 in 1936-1937, the association found.

School taxes for current purposes reached their low of $1,387,056 in 1933-1934, and were $1,898,752 in 1936-1937. Special district taxes reached their low of $300,103 in 1932-1933, and had gone to $614,325 in 1936-1937.

Taxes levied for general county bonds were $107,239 in 1932-1933, and $74,672 in 1936-1937, for school bonds the levy was $611,493 in 1932-1933, and $453,937 in 1936-1937.

Fish Boat Hits Floating Target

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—The 65-foot purse seiner Pronto collided with a tug-towed navy target float 10 miles northeast of Santa Catalina island just before daylight today and was badly damaged.

Another purse seiner, the Star of San Pedro, took aboard the Pronto's crew of 10 and Capt. John Skalenatas.

The last seen of the Pronto, which had 30 tons of sardines aboard, it was awash up to the pilot's house.

John Lamb Taken To Hospital

Suffering from a slight heart ailment and overwork, County Tax Collector J. C. Lamb is under treatment today at St. Joseph's hospital, his office reported.

Lamb was sent to the hospital Saturday afternoon by his physician for a complete rest. Visitors will not be permitted until later.

Associates said Lamb's condition was not considered serious, but that he was taken to the hospital in order that complete quiet and rest could be had.

Negro Kills Three In Relief Office

DENVER. (AP)—Three men were shot to death by a negro gunman in the offices of a relief agency here today.

The dead: James Tunnell, director of the agency. Carlos di Vio and Oliver Milliken, workers in the bureau.

A woman, Mrs. Ramona Chambers, was shot through the body and was injured critically.

The negro was captured a few minutes after he walked out of the agency, located in a former nurses' home on the grounds of the Denver General (county) hospital.

Police identified him as Frank Bailey, 59, of Denver.

Police said the negro, after shooting the three men, and wounding the woman, quickly reloaded his revolver and left the agency. He crossed the court to a building opposite, where three women were working.

He fired at all three but the shots missed. One woman, however, was grazed by several slugs. Witnesses told officers the negro started shooting in the relief bureau without warning or uttering a word.

U. S. WINS IN PLANE PLANT GOLD CASE

Supreme Court Rules Contracts Need Not Be Paid in Bullion

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The government won in the supreme court today in its contention that the 1933 resolution prohibiting payment of obligations in gold applied to contracts for bullion as well as to coin.

The 5-to-4 decision was delivered by Justice Cardozo. Dissenters were Justices van Devanter, Sutherland, McReynolds and Butler.

These were the four who dissented to the celebrated supreme court opinion upholding, in effect, the legislation.

The opinion affirmed rulings by the first circuit court of appeals and the Massachusetts federal district court that a contract for gold bullion could be paid off at its face value in present-day revalued money.

This constituted a defeat for the Holyoke, Mass., Water Power company, which sought to collect $28,874 additional from the American Writing Paper Company of Massachusetts on rental contracts negotiated more than 40 years ago for water power rights on the Connecticut river.

Edward To Wed Wally May 2

LONDON. (AP)—The Duke of Windsor was reported today to have set May 2 as the day for his wedding to Wallis Simpson, causing fear the royal romance would overshadow the coronation of his brother-successor, just 10 days later.

Former King Edward VIII generally was believed to have made it clear in week-end conferences that he intended to marry the woman for whom he abdicated his throne as soon as her divorce from Ernest Simpson becomes absolute, April 27.

Fund to Aid Sick Worker Is Stolen

Employees of the West Coast Refining company in Atwood took up a collection last week for a fellow worker absent because of illness.

They collected $36, put it in a cigar box, and left it in the rear office of the concern.

Yesterday, Warren Bradford, owner of the concern, told authorities that the box was missing.

There are no suspects, as the door leading into the rear office was always open, and all employees of the company had free access to the room at all times.

HIGH COURT VOIDS FEE ON AUTO

Ruling Ends $15 Levy On Machine Towed or Driven For Sale

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The supreme court declared invalid today California's 1935 "caravan act" requiring a $15 fee for each motor vehicle driven or towed into the state for sale.

In an unanimous decision delivered by Justice Stone, the tribunal affirmed a ruling by a three-judge federal district court in California holding the statute invalid.

Stone asserted that the California legislation "imposes an unconstitutional burden on interstate commerce."

He said testimony produced "does not impeach the (lower) court's conclusion that the permit fee bears no reasonable relation to the total cost of regulation."

The law was challenged by the Pacific Wholesale Automobile Company and others of Los Angeles. They contended the act burdened interstate commerce.

Last term, the supreme court unanimously upheld constitutionality of a similar New Mexico law imposing a $7.50 tax on vehicles moving under their own power and a $5 levy on cars towed over the highways.

LEGISLATURE IN SESSION

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Legislators came trooping back to the capitol today to renew the 52nd second session of California's legislature with the prospect of an almost immediate controversy over proposals to indorse, on the one hand, and condemn, on the other, President Roosevelt's supreme court reorganization plan.

Although the strategists, headed by John G. Clark, among the assembly Democrats are undecided what course to take in the introduction of a resolution indorsing the high court reorganization, two assembly Democrats, Hunt of Los Angeles and Meehan of Oakland, have announced their intention of bringing the matter before the legislature.

It is possible, according to unauthenticated reports, that a Republican may introduce a resolution of condemnation.

The lawmakers are faced with some bills which, individually they propose to enact into law, and resumed at noon the session they halted 38 days ago.

SANTIAGO DAM FORMS LAKE

Water stands today at less than three feet from the top of the Santiago dam.

There are now 23,250 acre feet of water held back by the dam, the greatest amount in history. The water is spread over an area of about 680 acres of land, forming a large lake in back of the dam.

At an average value of $15 per acre foot, the water in the dam is worth $348,750.

Water still is flowing into the dam, but because of the varied intake, it is not possible to determine exactly when water will start spilling over into Santiago creek. The water now stands 107 feet deep at the dam tower.

On Jan. 31 of this year there was but 3480 acre feet of water backed up by the dam.

Crowds of motorists visited the dam area over the week-end to see the huge amount of water which has formed into a lake back of the dam.

That headline is the title of The Journal's newest addition to its comic page. "Strange As It Seems" is a daily drawing by the nationally famous John Hix, illustrating several wonders of the modern world—curiosities which you would be sure to see if you took a trip in their vicinity, or which you might have to pay admission to view in a museum or sideshow. SEVEN HURT IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENT

Santa Ana Girl Suffers Possible Fracture Of Her Leg

Seven-year-old Marilyn Stephens of Santa Ana was under treatment for a possible leg fracture, at Santa Ana Valley hospital today, and six other persons were nursing cuts and bruises as the result of one traffic accident last night.

When Thomas Bunnell, 21, Anaheim, assertedly failed to observe a boulevard stop at Harbor boulevard and Seventeenth streets last night, his light roadster crashed into the side of a sedan, demolishing the other car and injuring all its occupants.

Get First Aid
Those injured in the Stephens car were H. H. Stephens, 35, 923 South Garnsey street, the driver, Mrs. Stephens, and Marilyn. Riding in Bunnell's car were Jack Bunnell, 17, Anaheim, and Verna and Lillian Gust, 18 and 16, Anaheim. All were given first aid treatment at the hospital.

W. H. Smith of the Orange County Ambulance service, who assisted in taking the victims to the hospital, said he believed the Stephens girl's leg broken. Physicians were taking X-ray pictures today to determine the extent of her injuries.

Mrs. M. H. Gosney, route 1, Huntington Beach, was cited by Highway Patrol Officer Walter Meyer for reckless driving following a collision in which she was slightly injured.

Walks Into Car
Mrs. Gosney's car, pulling from the side of the road to the highway at 11 a. m. yesterday east of Sunset Beach, was struck by a car driven by John M. Duncan, 52, Long Beach.

Matthew J. Venheim, 61, route 3, Santa Ana, was slightly injured Saturday evening when he assertedly walked into the side of a car driven by Fred William Turner, 37, 1236 Orange avenue, at Bolsa and Cannery streets.

Edwin S. Hansen, 45, San Francisco, reported to highway patrol officers that he fell asleep and crashed his car into a telephone pole on the 101 highway south of Ball road early Saturday. The auto was badly damaged, but the driver was unhurt.

Congress to Get Report on NRA

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt will send a special message to congress tomorrow transmitting, without recommendations, a report from a committee appointed to study the sound and unsound principles of the invalidated industrial recovery act.

White House officials said the non-partisan committee had prepared a report of 378 pages and that the message would refer to it as an impartial study.

MORE ABOUT SUPERVISORS

cause of the Ohio and Mississippi floods.

Supervisors N. E. West and Steele Finley intimated they would oppose sending Malone back to Washington.

Supervisors Harry Riley and John Mitchell were non-committal. And Chairman Willard Smith probably will bring up the question again Tuesday. What will the board do?

Engagement of a special attorney in the county road oil case will swell the ranks of Orange county's counsel outside the district attorney's office to three. Recently Albert Launer, Fullerton city attorney, and B. Z. McKinney, San Clemente city attorney, were engaged as special counsel for the limping flood control project.

The question of gun club water use probably will not be resolved. It was more than two months ago when farm and water interests demanded an ordinance restricting non-beneficial uses of water. The board recently appointed a seven-man special committee to study the question. It is felt there is very little chance of a report from this committee as early as tomorrow.

Juvenile Problem
Demands of Orange county rancher interested for the adoption of a special ordinance controlling the soot nuisance from worn-out heaters undoubtedly will be brought before the board again Tuesday.

A. J. Cruickshank, prominent Orange county banker and rancher, is heading a new movement for a law to control the smoke nuisance in this county. The board is expected to fall in line with other counties which have passed similar ordinances, putting outmoded heaters out of the picture.

Three weeks ago it was learned a majority of the board favored the formation of a coordinating council for juvenile delinquency, in line with recommendations of Superior Judge H. A. Ames, juvenile authority, and leader in child delinquency work. J. A. Cranston, former candidate for supervisor, and one-time superintendent of Santa Ana schools, has been mentioned prominently as a candidate for the post of director of the council.

This business probably will be prominent on the board's agenda Tuesday.

The board already has given its approval to plans for a county-wide survey of transportation

STUDENT PAYS LAUNCH FARM OFF OLD FINE MEET HERE

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Howard H. Lane of Pasadena, Calif., was all square with the police today about a little matter of driving 45 miles an hour here on June 5, 1934.

With a note of apology, the Pasadena college student sent a money order for $5 to Police Chief Lewis in belated payment for a speeding offense committed more than two and a half years ago.

"Here is an honest man," Chief Lewis commented as he opened the letter.

Lane said he was working his way through school and "the only time I thought of it was when I didn't have the money."

Corporation Court Judge Boynton said the case was outlived by time, but commended the youth on his honesty.

Lane is business manager of the Pasadena Junior college year book.

Weyerhaeuser Aids Mattson Hospital Fund

SEATTLE. (AP)—Children's Orthopedic hospital officials announced that J. F. Weyerhaeuser, father of George Weyerhaeuser, kidnapped but returned two years ago, has contributed to the hospital memorial fund in memory of Charles Mattson, 10, killed last month by a kidnaper. The amount was not announced.

The Mattson boy, son of a Tacoma physician, was found murdered.

Johnson, McAdoo Ask U. S. Fund for Bay Exposition

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Senators Hiram W. Johnson and William Gibbs McAdoo have asked congress to create a United States Golden Gate International exposition commission and authorize a $3,000,000 appropriation to enable federal participation in the world's fair to be held at San Francisco in 1939.

Check Air-Minded Manila Mosquito

MANILA. (AP)—Philippine health officers disclosed they are investigating whether malaria mosquitoes are riding the trans-Pacific clipper planes from here to Honolulu and Alameda, Calif.

Officials of the health and quarantine bureau started a survey covering a one-mile radius from the Cavite base of the giant seaplanes to determine if the anopheles mosquitoes are breeding within the area. The investigation, they disclosed, was launched at the request of the officials of the United States department of state.

Water District To Name Officers

Directors of the Orange County Water district will meet at 2 p. m. tomorrow to organize for the new year. It was announced today by Secretary C. A. Palmer.

Election of officers will be one matter of business to be disposed of. Willis H. Warner, director from Huntington Beach, has served as chairman since formation of the water district.

A regular monthly meeting of the water district directors will be held on March 10.

CAR HITS SIGNAL

Robert L. Alexander, 323 South Bristol street, was injured early Sunday morning when his car crashed into a signal standard at the northwest corner of the Flower street bridge. The standard was wrecked.

STORM DEATH TOLL 19 IN EUROPE

LONDON. (AP)—At least 19 persons were dead today as one of the worst storms in recent years lashed the British Isles, the coast of western Europe and north Africa.

A roaring gale reached 98 miles an hour at Holyhead, North Wales, and at numerous other points was greater than hurricane force of 75 miles an hour.

The death toll in Britain reached 12 over the week-end, with most of the fatalities resulting from exposure and exhaustion. Snow drifted 20 feet deep in some sections, halting transportation and communications, and isolating many villages.

Four persons were lost when a sailboat capsized off Casablanca, French Morocco.

English channel steamers were delayed as much as five hours while snow and high winds drove across England into northern France.

Three men were killed at Brest in a quarry landslide loosened by continuous rain and snow. River transportation between Paris and Rouen was suspended when the flooded Seine continued to rise.

Music to Feature 'Gay Nineties'

There'll be music in the air when the American Legion auxiliary presents "The Gay Nineties" Friday night at the high school auditorium.

The Elks double quartet, consisting of John Miller, Walt Vieira, Hugh Reynolds, Fitz Gibbs, Lyle Anderson, Dr. K. H. Sutherland, A. J. Garroway and Willard Bassett will furnish much of it.

Other members will include an accordion solo by Mae Weyer, a saxophone solo by Leslie Phillips, a song by Vina Mae Hamer, a soft shoe dance by Louis Bradley, a tap dance by Greta Mae Guich, a tap dance by Louise Seary, a song by Betty Jean Vardy, and a tap dance by Betty Courtney, with Esther Shields as accompanist.

A burlesque pantomime of "Frankie and Johnnie" will be presented by Bob White, Harold Fish, Francis Edmunds, Joe Harless and Joe Steele.

Two Accused of Indecent Exposure

William F. Jones, 40, 1325 French street, was arrested last night by Santa Ana police on charges of indecent exposure, following the complaint of a neighbor, Mrs. Orion Shillston. He was lodged in the county jail.

Earlier in the day a 16-year-old Mexican boy had been arrested on similar charges, after several women had complained he was exposing himself to children about the neighborhood.

MORE ABOUT SUGAR TAX

operative when the AAA was ruled unconstitutional and benefit payments to producers ceased.

The President said the excise tax would yield approximately one hundred million dollars per annum to the treasury of the United States, which would make the total revenue from sugar more nearly commensurate with that obtained during the period 1922 to 1929.

"Quotas," the President said, "influence the price of sugar through control of supply; consequently, under a quota regulation of the supply of sugar, a tax may be levied without causing any adverse effect over a period of time, on the price paid by consumers."

Asks Safeguards
The President asked special safeguards, in any legislation, for the rights of small producers to assure them "an equitable share of the benefits offered by the program."

"In this connection," he said, "I suggest also that you consider the advisability of providing for payment at rates for family size farms higher than those applicable to large operating units."

With regard to fixing standards of labor he said: "I recommend . . . that the prevention of child labor and the payment of wages of not less than minimum standards, be included among the conditions for receiving a federal payment."

Wants Consumer Protected.
The interests of the consumer should be protected, he said, by a provision "to prevent any possible restriction of the supply of sugar that would result in prices to consumers in excess of those reasonably necessary, together with conditional payments to producers, to maintain the domestic industry as a whole and to make the production of sugar beets and sugar cane as profitable as the production of the principal other agricultural crops."

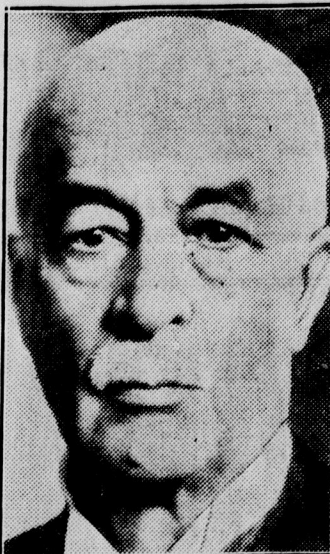

He asked that no decrease be made in other countries' share in the total sugar quota "in order to protect the expansion of markets for American exports."

Under his recommendations, he said, it has been estimated that the income of foreign countries from sales of sugar here "would not be less than that obtained during 1935, and, like the total income of domestic sugar producers, it can be expected to increase in future years as our consumption requirements expand."

Accuse Rancher Of Letting Wife Die in Blizzard

EKALAKA, Mont. (AP)—Louis Richardson, rancher in the southeastern Montana cattle country, is facing a manslaughter charge accusing him of "failure to protect" his 27-year-old wife, whose frozen body was found a month ago in a Wyoming snowdrift.

Mrs. Richardson, mother of two children, walked out of the family home in sub-zero weather during a blizzard last Jan. 19 after a domestic altercation, witnesses testified at the husband's preliminary hearing. They quoted her as saying she was going to the Henry Davenport ranch a mile away.

When she failed to reach the Davenport ranch, a search was started. Four days later the party found her frozen body huddled beside a snowbank seven miles from home.

Noted Engineer Dies in L. A.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The body of George Cook Walker, 58, noted construction engineer and sportsman, was taken to Forest Lawn Memorial park today pending funeral arrangements.

Walker died yesterday in St. Vincent's hospital of a heart ailment. He was president of P. J. Walker Co., which directed the construction here of buildings worth $150,000,000.

Walker founded the California Fish and Game Development association and was vice president of the California Fish and Game Commission.

He was 34 years of age, and is survived by his father, Arthur Broadhead, a sister, Mrs. Audrey Schneider, and a brother.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. from the Ives and Warren mortuary chapel in Pasadena.

URGES STATE ACTION IN OIL SUIT

Why doesn't the state of California take a hand in the suit of Standard Oil company against Southern California Drilling company over alleged whipstock drilling of an oil well in the Huntington Beach field?

That's the question the oil industry, through a number of publications, is asking as the trial, expected to last another two months, continued today before a jury in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court.

National Oil Derrick, weekly oil newspaper published at Los Angeles, commented:

"Apparently ignoring a California assembly resolution introduced by Assemblyman John O'Donnell, and passed on Jan. 21, the state of California has failed to intervene in the slant-hole suit. . . .

"Considerable interest has been aroused, it is reported, over failure of Attorney General U. S. Webb to intervene in the local suit."

The outcome of these suits, it is said, largely depends upon the establishment by a competent court of the "high water tide line" marking the boundary between the littoral land and the state-owned tideslands, beneath both of which are extensive oil deposits."

John H. Blasius, who stormed from the witness stand Friday in anger at questions of Oscar Lawler, Standard Oil company attorney, returned to court today prepared to continue testifying.

He had to wait his turn, however, as W. H. Emerson, resident manager of the Sperry-Sun Well Surveying company, continued to describe the method used by his firm in measuring the position and direction of underground wells.

Emerson testified Friday that his company resurveyed a well if results do not check within 40 feet in the position of the bottom of a 4000-foot well. In California, he said, they found they were able to check within eight feet in a 4000-foot well.

Roland Swaffield, representing the Sevens Oil company, also a defendant company, will lead a defense attack on the accuracy of the surveys, it was indicated.

Laura Broadhead Dies at Pasadena

Word was received today of the death yesterday in Pasadena of Miss Laura Broadhead, former resident of Santa Ana, and member of the local Neighbors of Woodcraft.

She was 34 years of age, and is survived by her father, Arthur Broadhead, a sister, Mrs. Audrey Schneider, and a brother.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 10:30 a. m. from the Ives and Warren mortuary chapel in Pasadena.

Pastor Re-elected

THE REV. L. D. MEGGERS

Unanimously re-elected to the pastorate of the Church of the Nazarene, at a church meeting yesterday, the Rev. L. D. Meggers starts his third year in the local pulpit this week.

The Rev. and Mrs. Meggers came to Santa Ana in September, 1935, and since then have been active in increasing the scope of the church membership and activities.

A native of Nebraska, the Rev. Mr. Meggers was educated at North West Nazarene college, Nampa, Idaho. He has been a minister for 20 years.

Case Over Wages Deferred Again

Another continuance today postponed to March 16 one of the most complicated cases in recent months in Santa Ana justice court.

Due to the absence of Justice Kenneth Morrison, who has heard hours of the testimony already in a suit for wages and food, the suit of Margaret May Lockhart against Amelia Lynch, scheduled for today, will be heard two weeks from tomorrow.

Mrs. Lockhart asks a total of $955.50 in her complaint, alleging $870.50 is due for her services as a housekeeper and practical nurse to Mrs. Lynch from Oct. 5, 1932, to Oct. 9, 1936. She also asks $125 for food, alleging Mrs. Lynch agreed to pay her $5 a week and furnish her and her husband with food and lodging.

Arguments already have consumed several lengthy court sessions. Ira Kroese is attorney for the plaintiff, and John Harvey represents Mrs. Lynch.

TOOTH CAUSES DEATH

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A loose tooth lodged in the lung of 9-year-old John Roberson caused his death Sunday, surgeons reported. The tooth, which slipped down the boy's bronchial tubes during a tonsillectomy eight days ago, developed an abscess despite repeated efforts to extract it.

WRECK PUTS FIVE BOYS IN JAIL

Five boys, their ages ranging from 15 to 17, were under arrest today on grand theft charges following a wild ride in a stolen car, which ended with a crash into a lamp-post at the Orange plaza yesterday afternoon.

Pursued by Santa Ana police, the boys' car struck the post at approximately 80 miles an hour, witnesses said, breaking that post and two iron poles planted around the plaza. Three of the youthful fugitives were pinned in the back seat but escaped injury. The other two fled but were surrendered by their parents.

The auto, police said, was stolen Friday night from J. L. Marshall, Tustin, while the owners were attending an operetta in Orange. The boys were observed yesterday afternoon by a filling station attendant at Irvine, who called police here when he became suspicious. The ensuing pursuit led to their capture.

The boys' names are being withheld by The Journal because of their youth.

To Probe Traffic Deaths Wednesday

Deaths of two Orange county men in traffic accidents will be investigated by coroners' juries Wednesday.

An inquest into the death of Lloyd Duprey, 45, Huntington Beach, who died Feb. 27 from injuries incurred Feb. 23, will be held in the Dixon mortuary at Huntington Beach at 3 p. m. Thursday.

FOREIGNERS SENT FROM COUNTY

Families Classed as Undesirables Will Leave Country

Free repatriation and deportation proceedings are ridding Orange county of some families classed as undesirables by the U. S. Immigration service here.

Tomorrow one family sets sail for Italy after having cost the county of Orange more than $2000, besides lots of worry and trouble, according to Franklin Davis, head of the immigration service here.

This family is well known to the law enforcement agencies of the county, Davis said. It is the Fardward Naponelli family. The father is an Italian, the mother a Mexican who has been in the Norwalk state hospital. One of the girls is on parole from a state institution.

Authorities have had trouble with another of the girls. The oldest son was said to be a mental case. Orange county is paying $218 for the fare of the youngest son, American-born, to Italy.

Takao Sato, a Japanese nabbed in San Clemente this week, who is in the United States illegally, is being deported to Japan. Davis said Sato is one of the most intelligent Japanese with whom he has come in contact. He had been in the country for 11 years, once serving as draftsman for the Ford company.

DEAN DETTON RISKS TITLE HERE TONIGHT

Tustin Outclasses Pasadena 39-14, Plays Pomona

Sammy Francis Cages 23 Pts.

Tustin High school's ball-hawking Tillers were still very much in the C. I. F. basketball eliminations today, after leaving flattened among their souvenirs the flimsy threat of Pasadena's San Gabriel league champions, 39 to 14, at Tustin Saturday night. Coach Ralph (Bill) Cole's medium-sized quintet, which can make a basketball do about everything except talk, is slated to play Pomona of the Citrus Belt league at Tustin next Saturday night.

Pomona survived the first round with a 34-21 victory over Bishop of the Inyo County league at Pomona Saturday night.

Sammy Francis, the "Hank Luisetti of Tustin," peppered the Pasadena goal for 23 points, and again proved the standard scorer, but it was his all-around maneuvering with Paul Francis, Larry Monroy, Vic and Walt Linker that flattened Pasadena.

The Pasadena boys, who received a hard job when their captain, Tommy Downs, was counted out of the lineup this week with the "flu," presented a club of rangy boys whose height did them little good because they were too slow to cope with Tustin's fast-breaking "midgets," who knew where—and when—to pass.

Coach Cole was dissatisfied with the execution of some of Tustin's plays, but thought the Tillers, on the whole, played better than in their double victory over Anaheim. He lauded the work of Sammy Francis, who seemed to be able to pierce the ring from all angles. Sam wasted few shots, but his brother, Paul, was off scoring form, being held to 5 points. Paul usually tallies 13, and had an opportunity for about that many against Pasadena.

A blood forward by the name of Larry Swartz began causing the Tillers trouble after they had gained a 7-0 lead, which was quickly lowered to 7-4. Cole assigned Larry Monroy to guard Swartz, and Mr. Swartz was quickly checked.

Walt Linker opened the Tustin scoring with a field goal near the foul circle, and Sammy Francis slipped in a long one from side court. Walt Linker sank a charity toss, and Sam Francis went under the basket for a set-up. Pasadena sank two field goals in succession, but Tustin ended the first quarter with Larry Monroy and Sammy Francis finding the bucket for a 14-4 lead.

Tustin picked up six points in the second half, starting with a 11-4 lead and finishing, 22-9. Pasadena pulled up to 14-9, but Sam Francis rallied with eight consecutive points. His first two came on free throws. Then he aged a long one. A looping shot from side-court made it 20-9, and another long one 22-9. After that, the outcome was never in doubt.

Prettier field goal of the game was a lightning set-up executed by Sam Francis on a pass from his brother, Paul, in the third quarter while the Tillers were building a 31-12 lead. Pasadena scored only two points in the last quarter.

Lineups: Tustin (39) Pos. (14) Pasadena P. Francis (5) F. (8) W. Swartz W. Linker (2) F. (2) S. Francis (23) C (2) Wright S. Monroy (8) G (2) Ballard W. Linker (1) G (1) McDonald

Score by Quarters: Tustin 11 11 9 8—39 Pasadena 4 5 3 2—14

Substitutions: Tustin—V. Linker, Stevens, Foster, Stone. Pasadena—Stumbo, Bruner, Hauke, Plummer.

Los Angeles Sloop First in 67-Mile Windjammer Race

SAN PEDRO, (P)—C. A. Page of Los Angeles, in the champion N-sloop Westward, was hailed today as winner of the week-end 67-mile windjammer race around Catalina island.

The 12 contestants left here Saturday noon and Page led them back in 14 hours, 29 minutes, winning the second leg on the trophy posted by Mayor Frank L. Shaw of Los Angeles.

Willis Hunt's new cutter, Stormy Petrel, was second, and Owen P. Churchill's eight-meter Angella, the Santana and Dr. Archie Steele's new Stella Marie finished in that order within 10 minutes.

ROSEMONT AMAZES 50,000 Closing Charge Is Colorful

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND LOS ANGELES, (P)—It's all over now, the race is two days old, but the mental picture of the great closing charge of a gallant thoroughbred named Rosemont will live long in the memories of the 50,000 fans who sat in on the 1937 running of the Santa Anita Handicap.

Down the home stretch Saturday as the climax to a "million dollar" day at Santa Anita, thundered the five-year-old star of the Foxcatcher farm, owned by William Du Pont, Jr.

The world's richest purse was at stake—$100,000 added. A few strikes from the finish of the mile and a quarter gallop, Rosemont bolted from striking distance. His soft black nose hit the wire, just that far ahead of Seabiscuit, C. E. Howard's flier which had edged into the lead in the stretch.

Rosemont, son of The Porter and Garden Rose, was the future book favorite last winter and the crowd's choice Saturday with Harry Richards of Jamaica, N. Y., aboard, he packed top poundage of 124.

Du Pont was returned $91,800 by the "photo-finish" victory, including $100 in entry fees. Seabiscuit, once a selling plater,

Shoved into the Eastern J. C. conference cellar by its former occupants, the Citrus Owls, by a count of 32-29 here Saturday night, Blanchard Beatty's Santa Ana, Dons' team, defeated the Citrus Owls, 32-29.

Riverside opened the double round schedule with a smashing 54-24 victory over Santa Ana, but the Dons should better that score in the finale. A close game may result, because Riverside has been losing ground while the Dons have been improving.

Against Citrus, the Dons led at half-time, 13-8, and kept their defensive zone well guarded. Al Claves' Owls resorted to spectacular long shots to pull up even at 23-23 with eight minutes to go.

Only Harold (Chuck) Barrett, who tied for high-point honors, and Kenneth Nissley of Santa Ana appeared to have their usual eye for the basket. Teamwork was spotted, with bad throws while on the offensive.

Lineups: Santa Ana (29) Pos. (32) Citrus Nissley (4) F. (2) Mangerick Stanley (3) F. (7) Connell Rutledge (2) G. (6) Timmons Marshall (2) G. (5) Hamelton Substitutes: Santa Ana—Randall, Johnson (2), Browning (2).

GRESCHNER OF J. C. BREAKS SHOT MARK

Don Captain Hurls Iron Ball 43 ft., 3/4 in. at Occidental Relays

Exhibitions by Fullerton and Riverside Junior colleges in the way of track performances at the Southern California college relays Saturday at Occidental college put Santa Ana Jay-see's track and field team on the spot today.

While Capt. Bill Greschner was smashing Santa Ana's shot put record with a heave of 43 feet, 3/4 inch for a fifth place for Bill Cook's Dons, Fullerton and Riverside were breezing by with 12 and 7 points, respectively, in open and junior college competition.

The Don cinder forces began preparation today for their invasion of Riverside Friday afternoon.

Although Greschner was the lone point winner at Occidental, Willard Lutton, Bob Clark and Les Huhn were noted out in their respective events with creditable marks. Lutton's mark of 21 feet, 5 1/2 inches was an inch short of the fifth place jump made by Christiansen of Fullerton, while Cameron Gillis, the other entry, got off only one jump under 20 feet.

Sixth place went to Clark in the javelin at nearly 160 feet and Huhn, Cook's new high jumper, cleared 5'10 and was one of the seven to attempt the six-foot mark.

Ray Cokely bettered his best previous mark in the shot put with a heave of 41'8. The shuttle high and low hurdle relay team failed to place but the race showed Cook that he will have two 16 sec. or better high hurdles in Elson Gash, Bob Roif, Dick Tauber, giant Kansas ace, tossed the platter 116 feet, 6 inches but went unplaced.

The last half of the Don's interclass will be held at Poly field Wednesday afternoon.

Strongbow May Extend Champ

For the first time since he defeated Dave Levin for the world's undisputed wrestling championship, Dean Detton appears at the Orange County Athletic club tonight. The man who pinned the touted Levin, and has been repulsing challengers ever since, meets the giant Okla-homa Indian, Jules Strongbow, in a best two-out-of-three falls to a finish match before what is expected to be the largest Highway 101 gallery since Howard (Hamm) Cantonwine held Levin to a sensational one-hour draw.

Training Camps in Brief

(By The Associated Press) ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The New York Yankees found a committee of Yankees on hand when they arrived for today's opening of spring training. Among them were Pitcher Monte Pearson, who won't be allowed to practice until he signs his contract; Catcher Bill Dickey, whose status is the same, and Tony Lazzeri, Jake Powell and George Selkirk, who were not due to report for another week.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Burleigh Grimes, new manager of Brooklyn Dodgers, has two things pretty well settled. One is that the veteran Heinie Manush will be handy man to have around as a pinch hitter and the other that Rookie Gil Brack, who played for him at Louisville, is a good outfield prospect.

HAVANA—After three exhibition games in which they have made few hits off Cuban pitchers, the New York Giants have begun to stir up the question of whether Manager Bill Terry will stick to his resolution to remain on the bench this season.

Johnny McCarthy, nominee for the first basing job, has made only one fluky hit so far while Terry, game knee and all, is a better than .300 hitter.

NEW ORLEANS—The Cleveland Indians opened spring training Sunday with a workout of less than an hour in cold weather and raw wind, and prepared to buckle down to real work today. Manager Steve O'Neill counted noses among the battery men squad and found Pitchers Johnny Allen, Villis Hudlin, Denny Galehouse and Catcher Billy Sullivan missing—all unsigned.

MEXICO CITY—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, arrived today and found the scoreboard one to one.

His team with a pitching staff whose average age was in the low twenties, and with an infield of pitchers and outfielders, yesterday beat the Mexican Comitas, 14 to 11. The Mexvax beat the A's Saturday, 3 to 2.

DATONA BEACH, Fla.—Forty St. Louis Cardinals, including several promising rookies, open training today. Conspicuously absent are Dizzy Dean and Johnny Mize, holdouts. Several other regulars were delayed in reporting. Manager Frankie Frisch plans to begin two workouts a day immediately.

Rosemont, winner of the third running of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, is shown crossing the finish line, a nose ahead of Seabiscuit with Indian Broom a close third and Special Agent rushing in to take fourth place. Rosemont was a favorite that paid the fairly high price of $9.50, $6 and $4 in winning. (Associated Press Photo)

ODE TO A LITTLE PIG

Grovelling, grunting, little piggy. Rooting, ranting, little swine. What a care-free span of living Is existence such as thine. Naught to do but seek out mud-holes, Oozy, soft and cool, Just to lie and wallow— Dilly Dally, dream and drool. Not your care to fret or fribble Over food to fill your flanks. You take what falls before you And gulp it down with thanks. Life is real to little piggy. Who cares not what to quaff; Curly tail a-wiggle, Dunking snout in gooey trough. Fat you'll grow, wee piggy. Belching over the drugs. But other pigs will eat you, When you're served as ham and eggs.

Little chillun, you always ought to be satisfied that you are, and that the other little boy is somebody else, and if he can do something better than you can, why don't you try to make everybody think you can do his tricks better than he can, because that thing they call Fate might get in the game and make you both wish you were turtles so you could crawl away down in the mud and hide.

Once upon a time there were two little boys, and they lived far apart, so they didn't know each other, but each one thought nobody could do tricks as well as they could. Their mamas and papas tried to show them how silly they were and that some day they would find out what kind of smart alecks they really were.

One little boy grew up and became one of these dentists you see on streets, who pull teeth without pain, and that real dentist thinks are related to the snake in the Garden of Eden. The other little boy grew up and read bumps on people's heads and told them they were going on long journeys and to look out for blondes and someday they would have a million dollars.

One was Fate, chillun, that put them right next door to each other, and did they fight every day? The cops would have to come and make them shut up, but that didn't do any good. One day the bump reader went to the dentist's hole in the wall and they began to fight so everybody in the block yelled for the cop. The bump reader said anybody could pull teeth if they turned on the radio so nobody could hear the yelling, and the dentist said the bump reader was a faker, and anybody could tell anybody they were going on a long trip, and to look out for blondes.

So the cop said we'll settle this right now. Mister dentist you get in your chair, and the way he said it the painless dentist climbed in his chair, and the cop said, Mister Bump reader, let's see you pull a tooth without making him yell. And the cop held the dentist in the chair and the bump reader took the pliers and reached way in the dentist's mouth and made a grab, and would you believe it, chilluns, out came every tooth in the upstairs of the dentist's mouth, because you see, he had what is known as false teeth, and did that dentist howl for him to put back his teeth so he could swear better. Which he did. My, but was that bump reader surprised when all the teeth came out in one bunch?

Now you, Mister Bump Reader, get in the chair, said the cop. It's the other guy's turn to have some fun, and they pushed the bump reader in the chair, and the dentist grabbed him by the head and began to swear that somebody was going on an awful long trip, and no blondes would enter his life, because his life was about to end.

But listen, chillun, something funny happened again. The bump reader's hair began to bunch up like a bee-hive, and then it slid around on his head, and then the dentist held all the hair in his hand, because you see, the bump reader was wearing a wig. And the dentist slanted it on the floor and jumped on it, and the cop laughed, and the bump reader smacked the dentist with a glass of water, and never to this day have they spoken to each other nor had a fight, because the cop told the neighbors and they laughed so much and said fakes every time they passed the shops, so the bump reader and the dentist moved out, and one became a grave digger, and the other one a prison hangman.

So little chillun, always tend to your own business, and if you are a plumber don't think you are Clark Gable, and if you are Clark Gable don't think you are Mr. Roosevelt, or maybe somebody will yank out your eye teeth, or pull the wool down over your eyes.

Local attorneys did not profit from the temporary "crime wave."

When the water is warm and fragrant,
He thunders a basso boom,
But when a cold deluge hits him,
Up to soprano he'll zoom.

He'll sing with a furore and din,
Scaring the rest of the household
So no-one will venture in.
The bathtub Caruso will warble—
He'll raise up the neighborhood's wrath.

As long as they still make hot water,
And pipe it upstairs to the bath.

NEWPORT'S GROWTH RAPID IN LAST NINE YEARS

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Incorporated Newport-Balboa has recorded almost twice as much progress in the last nine years as in the entire previous period of more than 22 years that carries the date back to the granting of the city's charter in 1906.

Such was the spectacular record indicated today by the file of resolutions passed by the city council in the last nine years since the city's incorporation. Of 1071 resolutions adopted during 31 years for public works, improvements and other civic operations, more than 650 were passed in the last nine years, authoritative dates showed. Less than 425 were adopted in the preceding 22 years, those dates said, as displayed by City Clerk Frank Rhinehart in his official vault built into the 40-year old former school building that since has served as Newport-Balboa's city hall.

Of city officials now in office, two have served the full time of the nine-years' record growth, City Treasurer J. A. Gant, and City Councilman Lloyd Clair, the records revealed.

Mayor Harry Williamson, and Councilmen Dick Whitson, Irving George Gordon and Commissioner Garfield completed the present roster.

COSTA MESA.—The annual All-States banquet was held Friday night in the social hall of the Community church, with 250 persons served with turkey dinner. The guests, who represented nearly every state in the Union, as well as Canada, England, Scotland, Germany, Bermuda and Norway, were seated at tables decorated in keeping with their state's major industry, official flower or flag.

As Mrs. H. B. McMurtry, general chairman of the affair, called the roll, each state responded with their state song and a brief address by the chairman. Ohio led with 23 native sons present; California second with 21, and Nebraska and Kansas third with 15 each.

A special musical number, "Song of the States," was given by Mrs. Ruth Erbe and Henry Abrams, accompanied by Mrs. Marie Pearce. The dinner was in charge of the Community Church Ladies' aid.

Ultra-modern comedy in which three of Hollywood's top flight stars participate is the film fare offered at the West Coast theater on a double program, that has the race track melodrama, "Breezing Home," as the other feature. Joan Crawford, William Powell and Robert Montgomery combine their talents in "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney." The film is based on the famous play by Frederic Lonsdale. In the supporting cast are Frank Morgan, Jessie Ralph, Nigel Bruce, Ralph Forbes and Aileen Pringle.

Miss Crawford appears in the title role as the widow who creates such a flurry in London society. Her butler, as portrayed by William Powell, is the height of butler perfection, and as the gentlemen of London fall in love with "Mrs. Cheyney," the ladies glance admiringly at her servant. But when a string of valuable pearls vanishes from the home in which the widow is a guest, suspicion falls on her. A young lord, Montgomery, much in love with the adventurous, traces the gems to her room and there confronts her with an obvious alternative to disgrace. Powell finally sees to it that she is vindicated.

Bank Building to Replace Sandwich Mill at L. B.

LAGUNA BEACH.—Another well-known Laguna landmark goes by the boards with the closing this week of the Sandwich Mill at the corner of Forest avenue and Coast boulevard, to be demolished to make room for the new Bank of America building.

The Mill, popular restaurant at the important cross-roads of the county, stood in the midst of new building construction and alterations, until finally making way for the march of progress.

With it goes tradition and numerous stories and incidents built around this gathering place where town residents occasionally indulged in loquacious comment on the affairs of the world and of their neighbors.

Already departed from the fold, last December went the time-honored and unappreciated coffee kiosk known as the "Amen Corner." This unique gathering, presided over by the "Kingfish," Frank Cuprien, famous marine artist, was taken from all walks of life, including professional men, artists, barbers, printers, newspaper people, laborers, shipbuilders, engineers, radio artists and actors.

But internal strife developed in this cosmopolitan club, and to dispel fears of being thrown out, the group abdicated in a body, although there is still controversy raging over which came first, the resignation or the dismissal.

Credit for the cause of the rift in activities was taken by six self-styled renegades: Captain Don Wilkie, former U. S. secret service

CHILD EATS POISON

ALAMEDA, (AP)—A dog poisoner was responsible for the death last Tuesday of Jack Russell Lung, 2-year-old Alameda child, Deputy Coroner Clyde Drennan declared after analyzing contents of Jack's stomach. The child died suddenly as he was romping in his yard.

"I shouldn't be surprised. You know, Fran, I've been thinking that it would be a good idea if you listened to what he has to say."

"I don't see what I can gain by a conversation with Joe," Fran objected. "It will be the same old story."

"Marriage?" She nodded.

"Does he love you?" "He pretends to, but he doesn't."

Ward lit a cigarette and stood staring at the ceiling. "There is only one answer to that, of course," he murmured at last. "You must possess something that the Jills want. They kept you completely isolated, and then, when you began to get restless, they tried to marry you off to their son."

"But I don't possess anything of value," Fran smiled wryly. "There must be something you don't know about."

A little maid came running up the stairs and interrupted them. "Please, miss—please, mister—to table."

"Come on, darling," said Ward, and took Fran by the arm. Downstairs, just before they entered the dining room, he bent over and said, very softly, "Don't avoid Jillup—try to get a specimen of his handwriting. Courage, darling!"

They were late. Everyone else had almost finished supper. Joe, seated next to Slacks, glowered at them. As Fran slid into her chair, she wondered what his next move would be.

His next move was very simple. After the others had left the room, he and Slacks remained in their places, waiting for Fran and Ward to finish eating. Slacks seemed slightly embarrassed and had it to say, but Joe, glancing from time to time at Fran, kept up a steady conversation with his

LEAGUE HAS CONVENTION AT ORANGE

ORANGE. (AP)—Closing a three-day convention of the Citrus Region Epworth League, held at the First Methodist church, Dr. Fred Trotter, Huntington Park, spoke Sunday morning on "Sources of Power for Times Like These."

More than 200 attended the convention banquet at the Epworth hall of the church Saturday evening, when Dr. G. H. Stevens, Pasadena, was speaker. The address Saturday morning was given by Dr. George Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, Santa Ana.

Dr. Trotter opened the convention Friday night, with a talk on "Being a Christian in Times Like These." The Rev. Arthur T. Hobson, pastor of the local church, spoke at 5:30 o'clock Sunday evening at the Lenten Vesper service, on "The Christian's Appetite and Diet." A devotional reading, "Spiritual Hilltops" was given by Bishop Cushman, and Mrs. Clyde Hughes sang a solo.

Bus Lines Adopt New Schedule

LAGUNA BEACH.—Effective today, the Santa Ana-Laguna Beach bus lines, affiliated with the Motor Transit Lines, will operate from the Greyhound bus depot, at Ocean and Beach streets.

Under the new consolidation plan the American Railway Express will also be housed in the new location, under direction of Charles L. Turner, former express agent.

The new move indicates a further step in the consolidation of local statewide, and transcontinental bus services in Laguna, concentrating under one roof the different services hitherto housed in separate locations.

The Santa Ana-Laguna Bus lines, operated by Phil Kellogg and Charles P. Rhinard, will continue service unchanged as to schedule and personnel, carrying the mails to and from Laguna, Santa Ana and intermediate points.

Founders' Day P-T. A. Feature

TUSTIN.—Founders' day was the theme of a high school P-T. A. meeting Thursday in the school cafeteria, with Mrs. E. Finch, fourth district chairman, as speaker. She discussed "Radio as a Factor in Education."

Mrs. Clarence Nissson was responsible for decorations. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. J. E. Winn, Mrs. Glenn Warner, and Mrs. Felon Mathews.

An announcement was made of plans for a P-T. A. benefit book review March 23 to raise funds for the student loan fund. The book will be reviewed by Mrs. Jennie Tammann and the affair will be held in the home of Mrs. C. E. Utt.

THE PURPLE ARROW

By MILDRED SNOW GLEASON

Frances Haven, American girl, has been living on an isolated little farm in Denmark with an elderly couple named Alup. They are trying to marry her off to their son Joe, whom she cannot stand. When she tells them she is going to marry a man named Bucharest, Rumania, they look her in her room. She escapes to Bucharest with the aid of an unknown person who sends her a note signed only with a crayon drawing of a purple arrow.

Shortly afterward, her brother is killed in a car belonging to Joe Jills' best friend, Arthur Slacks. Fran suspects the car was tampered with. She goes to a little pension in the country. Ward Petersen, a young man who proves to be an agent of the mysterious Purple Arrow, turns up to watch over her. Then, Arthur Slacks and Joe Jills arrive. When Joe again tries to force his attentions on Fran, Ward knocks him down. That afternoon, Fran and Ward go for a long walk. Just after they return, Fran is in her room, when something comes flying through the window and clatters to the floor.

CHAPTER XIX
Fran sat perfectly motionless for several seconds, then bent down and picked up the object that had come hurtling through the window.

It was an ordinary stone wrapped in a piece of cheap brown paper. She removed the paper and saw that a few lines of writing had been scrawled on it in pencil:

It is dangerous to go walking in the hills. Stay close to the pension if you want to be safe.

Fran sat staring at this strange warning, wondering if she should take it seriously. Perhaps it was an attempt on Joe's part to intimidate her—to keep her from running away. She rose and walked to the window. The thrower of the stone, of course, had not lingered, and the driveway below was deserted.

Finally, Fran hurriedly dressed for supper and started downstairs. She found Ward waiting for her at the foot of the ladder which connected the hallway outside his room with the second floor.

"Mounting guard?" He grinned. Glancing quickly around, she lowered her voice and told him what had happened. She showed him the note. No longer smiling, Ward examined it closely.

"A disguised scrawl," he grunted, "but done in a hurry. If I could compare it with the handwritings of the people here, I'd probably be able to tell you who wrote it."

"You mean, Fran said quietly, 'that I've got myself out of the hot water.'"

Joe laughed mockingly. "Little fool—you don't know what you've done. And now, if you don't do exactly as I say, you'll regret it for the rest of your life."

"Empty threats. You can't frighten me, Joe Jills!" she answered.

"No?" Joe stuck his face close to hers. "Very well, I'll tell you this—if you don't obey me, you're likely to find yourself in prison!"

PENSIONITES WILL BUILD MEMORIAL

12-Story Structure In Long Beach Is to Honor Townsend

LONG BEACH (AP)—Members of the 52 Townsend clubs in the 15th congressional district have approved plans for the erection of a limit-height building to be used for humanitarian purposes as a memorial for Dr. Frances E. Townsend, founder of the Townsend old age plan.

John H. Betts, president of Townsend club No. 2 of Long Beach, said the cost of the building, $1,000,000 to $1,500,000, would be raised by voluntary subscription by Townsend club members and the public on a basis of 5 cents a month for six months. He estimated there were 3,000,000 Townsendites in the United States.

Townsend and his wife, Betts reported, will have a penthouse home atop the building while a bronze statue of the founder of the old age plan will be erected in front of the building. The limit on buildings here is 12 stories, or 185 feet.

Betts stressed the idea that the building of the memorial was something "entirely apart" from the workings of the Townsend old age plan, although leaders in the project would be Townsend club leaders.

The governor of the state, the presiding judge of the superior court of Los Angeles and the mayor of Los Angeles will be invited to sit as ex-officio members of the working committee, Betts said.

Townsend is at present in Washington, D. C., awaiting sentence on a conviction of contempt of the house of representatives. This is his home town.

Lenten Meditations

"Nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt." Read Matthew 26:36-46.

Matthew Arnold says that the greatest line in poetry is "haste," "In thy will is our peace."

The idea of the omnipotence of God carried with it two or three genuine difficulties. If God is omnipotent then he is responsible for evil as well as for good. If he is omnipotent then our human freedom is a farce. Why should we pray that his will be done, when it is done anyway?

Part of our difficulty with these riddles is eased if we realize that the world in the teaching of Jesus translated "will" carries with it the suggestion of desire as well as of coercive control. In our human world many of our choices are made, not on the abstract merits of the case, but in response to the known desire of some one whom we love and trust. "I do it because you wish me to." For sensitive persons the desire of such an one is more powerful than any blunt command could be. Christ "desires with desire" that we eat his bread and drink his cup. But at his table no one is ever forced. It is not otherwise with God the Father, to whom we pray, "Thy will be done."

Prayer: Almighty God, who through Thy Son dost continually prompt us to do Thy will, grant that we may love the thing which Thou desirest for us and find Thy commandments in the purified wishes of our hearts; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Nab Man Who Fleed Pen 15 Years Ago

COLUMBUS, Ohio, (AP)—The long arm of the law reached out today to bring Clarence J. Cannon back to the Ohio prison he fled more than 15 years ago.

Warden James G. Woodward of Ohio penitentiary ordered an officer to Pittsburgh where the 38-year-old steel mill foreman was reported to have agreed to return voluntarily in the hope of winning a pardon from Gov. Martin L. Davey.

His wife, Martha, who ironically caused his arrest on a minor charge after they quarreled and thus enabled authorities to learn his identity, appealed to the governor in Cannon's behalf.

Hail Frightens Philippine Town

MANILA, P. I. (AP)—Natives of La Carlota thought the end of the world had come when hailstones fell on the town Friday for the first time in history.

The populace of the town on Negros island in the central Philippines was panic stricken. Cattle stampeded. Chickens squawked. Dogs fled under houses, their tails between their legs.

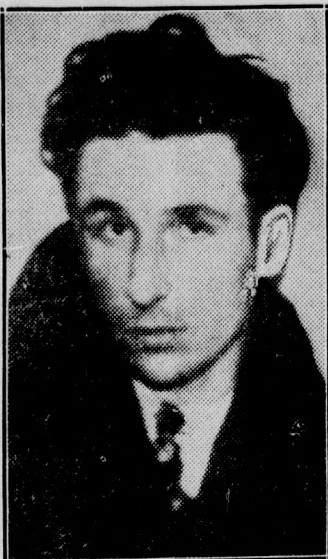

Townfolk who had seen hail in other countries explained the phenomenon and generally quieted the people — after the storm had passed.

Nazis to Answer Jewish Pageant

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Nazis announced they would open an exhibition, "The Eternal Jew," in Munich next June to answer Max Reinhardt's "Eternal Road," a spectacular pageant of Jewish persecution now playing in New York.

The exhibition, for the most part, will be made up of documents and pictures from the collection of Julius Streicher, Germany's No. 1 anti-Semite.

Science Church Takes Up 'Jesus Christ' as Topic

"Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and today, and forever." These words from the epistle to the Hebrews were the golden text in the lesson-sermon on "Christ Jesus" on Sunday in all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

One of the scriptural citations included these words of Jesus, from John: "If ye love me, keep my commandments. And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth; whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you. I will not leave you comfortless: I will come to you." The lesson-sermon presented also this passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, "Christ, as the spiritual or true idea of God, comes now as of old, preaching the gospel to the poor, healing the sick, and casting out devils."

Says Woman Aids Most in Home

The home still is woman's greatest field of achievement, Dr. Walter A. Maier said yesterday in his weekly address over the coast-to-coast Lutheran hour network. "Popular appraisal of woman's greatness," said Dr. Maier, reveals a curious trend of the modern mind according to which a woman is regarded as pre-eminent not because she is a good mother and a faithful wife, but often because her achievements and ideals are noted for the conspicuous absence of these highest womanly attainments.

"One of the greatest fields of woman's service and distinction has been the energetic and faithful support which Christian women have lent to the cause of the church. As the gospel of Christ raised womanhood to new and unparalleled standards, so women, in turn, have contributed mightily to the progress of the church."

Election Judge Sentenced Again

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Edson M. Walker, Kansas City Democratic election judge, was sentenced to five years in the Platte county jail and fined $500 by Judge Merrill E. Otis Saturday following his conviction last week on a federal charge of attempted subornation of perjury.

Thursday when Walker, convicted with six others on vote fraud conspiracy charges, was sentenced to two years in the Leavenworth penitentiary, Judge Otis announced that sentence would begin to run after the one imposed Saturday.

New Destroyer Is Launched

QUINCY, Mass. (AP)—The United States navy destroyer Craven, sister ship to the Gridley launched last week at the Fore river plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, Ltd.

The vessel, named in honor of Commander Tunis Augustus MacDonough Craven, who lost his life in the sinking of the ironclad Tecumseh at the battle of Mobile Bay, Aug. 5, 1864.

Brings Back Liver And Wife After 28-Year Absence

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—Twenty-eight years ago Mrs. Emma Simms sent her young son, Charles, to the butcher's for a pound of liver.

Today he is back with the liver—and a wife. He came from Anchorage, Alaska, where he had lived for several years. Mrs. Simms, resident of Aleppo, Pa., at the time she sent him to the store, had heard from him only once. Years ago he wrote he hadn't forgotten the errand and some day would complete it.

Kids at Theater Stage 'Sit-Down'

MEXIA, Tex. (AP)—Seven hundred children at a kids' matinee staged a "sit-down strike" at a theater here Saturday in protest against a short program and what they called "lousy shorts."

Adults milled in the theater foyer but were unable to obtain seats. The theater manager finally refunded the adult admissions and acceded to the children's demand for more entertainment.

They'd Put Labels On Lobbyists In New Mexico

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—This idea of labeling lobbyists seems to have taken hold. Representatives R. J. Sloan and L. J. Chavez of the New Mexico legislature proposed that lobbyists be forced to wear red calico coats, trimmed in yellow silk, and bearing a "12-inch letter 'L'" on the back. Further, any legislator caught

San Diego Band Leader Is Dead

Science Opposes Romance, But Kissing Will Go On

DENVER, (AP)—Science, armed with a few dishes of cold, jellied beef broth, matched itself against romance in a high school classroom here—the teacher on the side of science and the students just about where you would expect them.

It was a frontal attack. Science, direct as Don Quixote, aimed its onslaught at kissing. It proved that a kiss implanted on cold, jellied beef broth causes germs to grow on it.

STUDENTS STRIKE

Even the rose colored glasses of youth could not obscure what lay on the surface of that broth. There, in the outlines of mouths, were germs. A canvass of students today showed they were impressed—not a one was reported to have gone out last night and kissed a dish of cold, jellied beef broth.

LEGISLATURE TO STAGE HOT BATTLE OVER H. B. TIDELAND OIL

LOCAL SOLONS TO JOIN IN BATTLE

Hope for Settlement of Controversy Over Tideland Pool

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Tideland drilling at Huntington Beach is expected to be one of the most important problems which will occupy the time of both houses of the legislature during the second session of the law making body, which began today.

The interests of Orange county and the city of Huntington Beach will be in the hands of Senator Harry Westover and Assemblymen Clyde Watson and Thomas Kuehl.

Seek Larger Royalty
The state-owned Huntington Beach oil field has an estimated value of between $200,000,000 and $500,000,000, it is said. Legislators who have introduced bills on the subject seek ostensibly to preserve the interests of the state in the oil. Private oil companies, through slant-well drilling, are tapping the state-owned oil resources, and authors of some of the bills contend a larger royalty should be paid the state.

Senator Culbert L. Olson, Los Angeles, head of an interim committee which has studied the subject since the 1935 session of the legislature, has submitted a report stating that royalty agreements, with operators using slant-drilling, with the exception of Standard Oil, have been agreed upon. However, Olson does not feel that the state is receiving its proper share.

Olson's Proposal
Senator Olson, Governor Merriam and others are supporting bills which they say will give the state greater advantage of its ocean oil beds.

Senator Olson's bill (SB 579) would authorize both competitive bidding and state drilling. It would empower the state finance director to obtain drilling sites either by condemnation or otherwise, and would divide the ocean oil bed into nine strips upon which bids would be accepted. Limitations are placed upon bidders to prevent monopolies. Leases would be for 10 years and payments to the state would have to be more than 30 per cent of the value of oil and gas extracted.

State Drilling
Under provisions of the bill if the finance director turns down the bids submitted, he is directed with the consent of the governor to proceed with state drilling. Piers and groins would be so constructed as not to unduly interfere with public use of the beaches and to prevent pollution.

The governor's ideas submitted in a bill by Assemblyman Waters, Los Angeles, is somewhat similar to the Olson measure. It does not include division of the tideland pools into parcels for bidding nor does it specify a minimum royalty. The bill gives the state a first lien on tidelands to secure the payment of royalties.

Both Governor Merriam's bill and that introduced by Senator Olson provide primarily for tapping the state's oil pools through negotiation of leases by asking bids on a competitive basis but both stipulate that if arrangements cannot be made satisfactorily with private companies the state can proceed to do its own mining and marketing.

Tragedy Strikes Twice in Family

DENVER. (AP)—Alarmed after her husband failed to return home Saturday night, Mrs. Eva McNamee began a frantic search for him.

Near a friend's home she stumbled and fell, fracturing her arm. The friend rushed her to a hospital. There, from her description, attaches identified a dying automobile accident victim in an adjoining room as her husband, James, 58.

He succumbed a few hours later without regaining consciousness.

Building Permits Total $203,280

An even 200 building permits, aggregating $203,280 in new construction and repairs, were issued here during the first two months of 1937, Building Inspector H. O. Rasmussen announced today.

February far outstripped January in total permits. During the first month 85 permits were issued, for $86,261. During February 115 permits, for $117,019, were issued.

Smith, who published the paper for 33 years, said he plans to do "some traveling."

Keene, until recently publisher of a Hollister paper, said the Mountain View paper "will follow an independent policy."

Farmers Favor Crop Insurance

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A group of farm leaders have promised countryside support for the administration's crop insurance program.

Coal Miners in Hungary Strike

PECS, Hungary. (AP)—A general strike was called today for 4100 coal miners in protest against the dismissal of 146 of their fellow workers who staged an underground "suicide strike" for a daily pay increase from $1 to $1.20.

The men were discharged Friday when they ended their strike after a hunger-crazed battle with pick-axes in the pits where 250 of them started a "stay-down" strike.

COUNTY LEADS AS WEDDING CENTER

Survey Shows Figures For Southland in 1935 And 1936

Orange county still holds its place today as Southern California's Gretna Green. Except for Los Angeles county, no other county in the Southland issued as many marriage licenses in 1936 as did Orange county, a survey by the Associated Press revealed today.

The Orange county total in 1936 was 4350 licenses. Riverside county issued 1342, San Bernardino county 1238, San Diego county 2536, Imperial county 216, Kern county 1022, Santa Barbara county 780, and Ventura county 1048.

Los Angeles county performed 22,401 weddings in 1936 and 20,474 in 1935. Totals for the state were 60,197 in 1936 and 56,554 in 1935.

VIDAL RESIGNS AS AIR CHIEF

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Eugene Vidal stepped out today as chief of the air commerce bureau, center of controversy for months in congress and in aviation circles.

More than a year ago a senate investigating committee, headed by Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, recommended reorganization of the bureau. In recent months the bureau and the air transport industry have differed over the causes for a series of major air crashes.

The bureau said "pilot failures" were the primary cause, Edgar S. Gorrell, head of the air transport association, blamed several crashes on "inadequate safety facilities" of the bureau.

Although Copeland's committee recommended reorganization of the bureau, the New Yorker said Vidal was not responsible for "the mess" there.

"Vidal had his hands tied by the political situation in the commerce department," Copeland declared. Vidal's resignation, rumored for months, was announced last night, effective at once. He said he would re-enter the aviation industry.

Secretary Roper announced today a reorganization program for the bureau, with Fred D. Fagg, Jr., of Northwestern university, as director.

Fagg will succeed Vidal. Roper said two assistant bureau directors—Rex Martin and J. Carroll Cone—would be assigned to study aviation activities in foreign countries and seek methods by which aviation may aid in world trade.

Elaine Withdraws Alimony Demand

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Elaine Barrymore, her attorney says, no longer wants $2500 a month temporary alimony from her husband, John Barrymore.

The 21-year-old New York girl was to withdraw today her petition for separate maintenance and advance on fees for Lawyer Leo Schaeffer.

Schaeffer also said Mrs. Barrymore would allow the actor more time to reply to her divorce complaint, the regular period expiring today.

The Barrymores flew to Arizona to get married last November and parted after a quarrel at a New Year's party on the question of Elaine's stage debut. In recent weeks her escorts have included William Tanner and Jack La Rue, Hollywood film players.

"Just friends," she told questioners.

Paramount Honors Sir Guy Standing

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—A busy motion picture studio passed today in respect for its noted character actor, Sir Guy Standing of England.

All activity on Paramount sound stages was ordered suspended at 11 a. m., while Episcopal rites were conducted in St. Stephen's church.

Sir Guy, knighted by King George V for naval service in the World war, died last Wednesday of a heart attack. He was 63. His widow, Lady Dorothy Frances Standing, arranged for interment in his native land.

Fire Sweeps Famous Alaska Mining Town

Flames, fanned by a gale, destroyed the entire business district and part of the residential area of Douglas, Alaska. The fire, starting from a grocery store oil burner, consumed 36 buildings and caused damage estimated at $250,000. The town has a population of about 600. (Associated Press Photo)

Freedom of Seas Ideal Is Flaming Anew in Congress Over Neutrality Measure

(Editor's Note: Deep-rooted in America's traditional foreign policy is the belief that the world's sea lanes must be kept open to commerce in war times as well as in peace. In a series of three stories, the first of which follows, the Washington staff of the Associated Press reviews the history of "freedom of the seas," brought once again into the news by congressional arguments over neutrality.)

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Controversy over America's traditional policy of freedom of the seas—an ideal which men have fought and died to preserve—has flamed anew in congressional consideration of a bill designed to keep the nation out of war just 20 years after German submarine warfare on neutral merchantmen helped draw the United States into the last world conflict.

Today's bill would put American commerce on a "cash and carry" basis by requiring belligerents to send their own vessels to transport munitions and pay in cash. Promptly handed into a potent foreign relations committee minority against the cash-and-carry principle were Senators Borah (R. Ida.) and Johnson (R. Calif.).

One Definition

In the foreign policy of the United States, there hitherto has been one fundamental sea freedom definition: Unrestricted liberty of movement of American commerce, except contraband, in time of foreign conflict.

The phrase assumed meaning only in war time when belligerents, seeking to cut each other off from outside supplies, were likely to infringe upon what neutral powers consider their own rights on the high seas.

The war of 1812 was precipitated when England sought to starve France into submission by an elaborate system of blockades and in doing so interfered seriously with American commerce and communication.

Again in 1915 and 1916, the United States went almost to the brink of war with England and the Allies because of interference with neutral American shipping in European waters.

Started in 1776
As early as 1776 the United States sought to guarantee the

Hemingway Going To Be Spain War Correspondent

NEW YORK. (AP)—Ernest Hemingway, novelist and short story writer, has sailed for Spain, "to go back to making money the hard way" as a war correspondent.

Also on the same boat, headed for the same place, went Sidney Franklin, Brooklyn matador, who also seeks to earn money in Spain in a somewhat wearing manner—by fighting bulls. After seven operations Sidney is still nursing wounds from the last bulls he fought.

Roosevelts Fete Son's Majority

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The Roosevelts celebrated last night the coming of age of John Roosevelt, who will be 21 on March 16. There was a quiet family dinner in his honor. The observance was advanced because the President expects to be in Warm Springs, Ga., and Mrs. Roosevelt away on a lecture tour on the birthday.

ASKS AID OF PUBLIC ON TAX JOB

Assessor Starts Annual Task of Evaluating Local Property

County Assessor James Sleeper today appealed to the taxpayers of Orange county to cooperate with his deputies as they launched into the annual task of evaluating, checking, and assessing personal property.

"Deputy assessors would appreciate any cooperation that can be given, especially if property owners will have a list of personal property ready when called upon. 'This will save time and insure an accurate assessment,' Sleeper explained. 'Do not expect the deputies to call a second or third time. Please expedite their work, as you are paying their salaries.'"

Deputies Listed

Those working in the field are Claude R. Ridgeway of La Habra, Robert Hatfield and L. L. Fuller of Fullerton, R. R. Rossetol of Garden Grove, Ernest G. Zitzmann and John Eley of Anaheim, A. R. Benson of Orange, John R. Fletcher of El Modena, S. Wayne Holt of Garden Grove, T. D. Knights, C. R. Coulter and John A. Chaffee, Hugh J. Plumb of Tustin, Glen L. Cramer of Costa Mesa, Robert Parker of Laguna Beach, and R. C. Patton of Orange.

Ridgeway will complete within a few days a survey of tree damage from the recent frosts.

Valuations Completed

Few orange trees, but many avocado and lemon trees were seriously damaged, Sleeper said.

Valuations of real estate, buildings and trees have been determined by special deputies, and the values are shown on the property owner's statement, according to Sleeper. Field deputies are not allowed to change these.

County tax rate here is 62 cents per $100 of assessed valuation as compared with $1.27 in Los Angeles county, $1.40 in Riverside county, $1.24 in San Bernardino county and $1.61 in San Diego county, according to Sleeper's instruction sheet to deputies.

COPPER WAGES BOOSTED

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Arizona copper producers posted a 5 per cent wage increase effective today to approximately 10,000 miners and smelter workers. Major companies said the increase, the fourth since Sept. 1, would make the average pay of miners $6 a day, and add $50,000 a month to the mine payrolls.

Tea Courtesy Extended to Bride and Bridegroom on Return From Bermuda

Plums Hosts At Lovely Affair

Fifty Invited to Meet Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton White

In the absence of Mr. and Mrs. James Irvine at the time of the return of Mr. and Mrs. William Thornton White, Jr., Mrs. Irvine's son and his new bride, from their honeymoon to Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. C. Mortimer Plum graciously opened their lovely home at 411 Edgewood Drive Sunday afternoon to present the young couple to their friends and friends of the Irvines.

Friends were divided into three groups and called between the hours of four and seven o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. White joining the Plums in receiving and Mrs. Lloyd A. Chenoweth assisting Mrs. Plum in her other hostess duties.

Mrs. White, who was Miss Gloria Wood of San Francisco before her marriage January 13 in the Mission Dolores in the Bay City, was lovely in a crepe formal afternoon dress of a floral print on white background.

The hostess was in blue crepe with its full sleeves and skirt studded with square sequins of black; and Mrs. Chenoweth wore a silver metallic blouse over a black crepe skirt.

Lovely Table

Mrs. Chenoweth poured throughout the receiving hours, presiding in the dining room at a beautiful table which was spread with a tea cloth of alternate squares of flannel and hand-made linen, the work of sisters in the convent at Hongkong. As a centerpiece, Mrs. Plum had arranged a little tree of silver balls and silver leaves in a container of glazed white pottery, and white tapers gleaming in silver candlesticks on the buffet added to the effect of charming simplicity.

White stocks and white paper narcissus, the latter sent from the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. E. Swales, were arranged through the other rooms where the friendly groups gathered to greet the newcomers to the community and to enjoy the hospitality of their hosts for an hour or so.

The young married couples of the hostesses' acquaintance were assembled during the last hour of the reception, which was the initial courtesy extended to Mr. and Mrs. White.

Out-of-Town Guests

Among out-of-town guests welcomed were Mrs. Albert Sumate, who had been one of Mrs. White's attendants in her wedding, and Mr. and Mrs. James McWilliams of San Francisco, the latter old friends of the Plum family. Mr. McWilliams' mother and the host's mother were acquaintances of many years' standing.

Though not able to be present at this first party honoring her son and his new bride, Mrs. Irvine has been interested in plans for the party, sending messages of greeting to all her friends who called during the day.

The wedding of the young couple was a brilliant social event in the north early in the year, uniting two old families of the bay region. Mrs. White is the daughter of Mrs. Baldwin Wood of San Francisco, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bayard T. Smith of Baltimore and Honolulu and of the late Mr. and Mrs. William S. Wood of San Francisco.

The bride was active socially in her home city, where she was a member of the Junior League and of the Spinsters' club.

A honeymoon to Bermuda followed the wedding, and the bride and bridegroom are living in Mrs. Irvine's Balboa bay home during plans for and construction of their new home near Santa Ana.

SNOWS HOSTS AT DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Snow entertained a small group of friends at a prettily appointed dinner party Friday evening in their home at 1702 Santiago, centering their table with freesias and arranging other spring flowers through the rooms.

Enjoying the dinner and informal evening together were Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred B. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bodenhamer, and the host and hostess.

House About It?

By BETTY GUILD

You know, Mrs. Orange County, every once in a while you get a sort of unexpected thrill. Like stumbling on a single blooming daffodil in a neglected, grass-grown field—or a star-tipped anemone as you're walking down a particularly desolate stretch of beach—or one perfect gown at an altogether too large, too inclusive formal dance. Do you know what I mean?

Altogether without anticipation I did just that thing this past week. It was an Elbell meeting that I'd been looking forward to, and I didn't have an idea of where it was, who was having it, or who was giving the program. Elaine Williams had very kindly invited me, and that was enough. Of course it wasn't exactly as solitary a thrill as that lead paragraph would give you to think. It was rather a pleasant, complete sort of sensation. In the first place, we drove up North Flower street, between rows of spanking clean, brand new houses. All of a sudden there were a lot of cars—and there we were.

It was a two-story, gleaming white, very windowed sort of house. The very look of it was friendly and open and gracious. After we'd rung the ding-dong knocker, and our hostess had come to the door, I realized it was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Robinson.

There's rather a nice little angle to that pleasant, modern, gay, hearted house. It's just that they've planned its every corner—its every room—its every exposure and characteristic for many years. And now at last the dream and the plan have been realized, and it's their home.

There was a good-sized entrance hall, with a stairway making an about-turn in front of your eyes—a dark-framed mirror on the wall at your left, with a dining-room vista beyond. And to the right stretched a very beautifully proportioned white-walled living room. At the far end was the principal feature of a room packed with principal features—an oval-framed colorful portrait of Jenny Lind nodding over a New England styled grand piano on which was posed a great golden mass of soft-falling acacia.

This was the keynote of the entire house. It is what you would call Monterey—white stucco exterior, with casement windows, Venetian blinds, graceful sweep of lawn—and the vividness of our southern California heritage. But it is also Colonial. Most definitely so.

For example, before the flame of

Fashions Are Afternoon Theme

Tables of well-dressed young matrons and misses overflowed into the patio-hall of Daniger's tearoom Saturday at the fashion tea sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi, local social and honorary sorority.

The lure of early spring styles, combined with the anticipation of a delightful social time, music and tea, was the incentive for nearly two hundred guests to attend the charming affair, and they were more than pleased with the results.

Members of the sorority were gracious hostesses, among them Miss Katherine Spicer, president, who looked particularly smart in black with a strand of pearls. She introduced Miss Georgia Bell Walton after welcoming the guests, and the latter in turn presented Miss Audrey Pieper, pianist, and Miss Anna May Archer, cellist. As their first soft chamber music sounded, Mrs. Charles Hyde, Jr., made her way to the front of the long, rosy-toned tea-room.

She was a picture in a colorful printed frock in which soft golden yellow predominated. The more vivid flame and emerald green that accented it were cleverly twisted into a band for her pale yellow leghorn hat.

As she announced them with the soft strains of the violin and cello music, models moved between the tables, displaying the newest in feminine apparel from Ron-shald.

Starting with the early morning hours, the colorful parade depicted various periods of the day, from lounging—pajamas through little morning and sports dresses of cotton, up through more formal attire—afternoon ensembles, street wear, frivolous cocktail frocks, and finally springlike evening gowns.

Sub-deb frocks were modeled very prettily by Miss Lenora Walker, slim brunette daughter of Mrs. Rose Walker. Perhaps her most becoming and attractive gown was a lovely peacock blue Bruff with tiny puffed sleeves caught with rosebuds.

Mrs. Edwin McFadden was gracious and lovely in everything she wore from a smart cape suit and a navy and white ensemble to a vivid printed crepe evening gown with huge clusters of flowers at the waist.

Very smart too was Mrs. Henry Williams, whose scintillating personality was admirably suited by her several black and white outfits, an adorable black taffeta little-dinner dress with immense leg of mutton short sleeves and narrow lace edging at throat and cuffs, and a dashing black and white printed linen formal.

Mrs. Ted Newcomb represented the still younger matron and was particularly fetching in a light blue plaid wool sports suit. Miss Marjorie Walton wore several attractive lace edged afternoon dresses, one very attractive in black and emerald green, and Miss Mary Girard, too, wore a successful, little morning and afternoon frocks. Mrs. H. E. Welch of Fullerton was another of the pretty young matrons whose after-noon ensembles in particular were very becoming, as was her printed linen evening frock.

Mrs. Arthur Shipkey of Anaheim was her usual ultra-smart self as she modeled a succession of sophisticated, tailored suits and gowns—afternoon ensembles—and one beautiful evening gown in crepe with violet accents.

To the right of this is the more than usual-sized breakfast room, with the paneled drawers and cupboards that abound throughout the house. I may have been a little vague about the actual floor plan, but the thick C-shape of the house makes the breakfast room face the den, with the living room making the third side of an outdoor living, dining, fun room, which is floored with brick.

The Robinsons actually planned and did have their breakfast room outside door made unusually large so they could slide the little table out without difficulty! And the fourth side of this pleasant place is a long backyard of a green lawn, picket-fenced, and with an adorable white and green play-house at the far end.

Above this patio is a white-railed balcony, accessible from the three spacious bedrooms upstairs. In these you will find quaint pastel wallpaper, and in the master bedroom is a charmingly quaint furniture group, with deep walnut base, and actual marble on the top of the dresser. It is more than quaint though, for it is essentially beautiful and useable.

Mrs. Robinson has the amazing knack of being able to turn her flair and love for antiques into the accommodations of a liveable, welcoming home, and the essential quality of it is that it's the sort of house and the sort of family that will grow more liveable, more beautiful, with the years.

Mexico Talk Tonight at Y.W.C.A.

Miss Edith Gilbert, as guest speaker this evening, will create for Santa Ana Tri-Y's and their friends a sympathetic understanding and interest in the town's Mexican citizenry, when she addresses the group at 7:30 o'clock in the Y. W. C. A. rooms at another of the series of studies they are making on "Mexican Culture."

All interested in this subject are invited to join the girls in their meeting, during which plans are to be made for the trip to Olvera street, Los Angeles, on Saturday, March 13, which will climax the Mexican program. After the trip, the girls will return to the Y. W. C. A. for a pot-luck supper of Mexican food.

Last week, Mrs. Isabel Lucero and Miss Delphina Lopez showed them lovely art objects they had purchased recently in Mexico, and Mrs. Lucero spoke of her travels and of artistic accomplishments of the Mexican people. The Trio Mexico provided music and an interesting folk dance.

FALL WEDDING PLANS TOLD AT DINNER

Tiny cupid told the news of approaching nuptials to a group of young friends who were gathered together for a lovely dinner party Friday evening at Daniger's, revealing the betrothal and marriage plans of Miss Lorraine Flagg, youngest daughter of Mrs. C. R. Flagg of South Broadway, and Sammy Skill of Long Beach.

The dinner was given by Mrs. Flagg in honor of her daughter, and guests invited to hear the news were high school friends of the bride-to-be, who is a member of the senior class.

Names on the little cupid place cards were Barbara Rambaugh, Louise and Gloria Kirchner, Alton Miller, Jane and Betty Wade, Clare Cullen, Beatrice Dysart of Los Angeles, Mary Boyd, Irma Jensen, Ruby Tomlinson, and Lorraine. The young couple plan to be married in the fall after Miss Flagg has finished school, and will make their home in Long Beach, where Mr. Skill is in business with his father.

LAS MENINAS IN RUSHING PARTY

Gathering from 5 to 8 o'clock on Friday evening at the home of Miss Llewellyn Allen in Tustin, Las Meninas of the junior college rushed some of the new girls on the campus preparatory to their semi-annual pledging and initiation.

A snow theme was chosen for the fun of the evening for the club members and their friends. Las Meninas present were the Misses Llewellyn Allen, Helen Bailey, Eloise Walker, Betty Lee, Velma Kuchel, Elsie Kox, Roberta Nichols, Dorothy Jenkins, Helen Lowe, Dorothy Newman, Betty Vaughn, Billie Johnson, Mary Holtz, Grace Adams, Genevieve King, Betty Adams, and Jane Smith, and the two advisors, Miss Dorothy Decker and Miss Genevieve Humiston.

DREAMS

I cannot tell my dreams; when I would link them into chains of words

Above my dazzled head they fly, Like flashes struck from silver swords.

Could I but use a small sunbeam For ink, I might write down a dream.

THE SEA

Your hands are soft like the sea-foam

When they creep over mine; and as white;

Your eyes are the moon-lit storm clouds

That brood o'er the sea at night. (Did you call me, O Sea?)

WHEN I GO WANDERING

When I go wandering Into the cold world of spirits I . . . shall miss you.

If you did not have Soft, soft, sweet lips

With a touch of sunset on them, I could wander

Into the cold world of spirits Unregretful.

If your face Did not mirror so poignantly The beauty

Of the insoluble mystery of Life, Of the pain of its brevity,

I could wander Into the cold world of spirits Without weeping.

But you are so human and so tender In your eyes

Dwell such unfathomable pools of sweetness;

What if the wells be dark and bitter In the cold world of spirits?

P.T.A. COUNCIL TO ELECT

Election of officers to head Santa Ana Council of Parents and Teachers is to be the chief piece of business at tomorrow's meeting of the council at 9:30 a. m. in the Spurgeon school auditorium.

Nominated for officers at the last meeting were Mrs. F. H. Mitchell, president; Mrs. E. H. Elms, first vice president; Mrs. Dale Elliott, second vice president; Mrs. Rufus Bond, recording secretary; and Mrs. Harry Becker, treasurer.

Final action on the proposed change in the by-laws will also be taken at that time, and plans made for the installation on the first Tuesday evening in April.

This is one of the regular meetings of the entire council, with each association sending one delegate for each 10 members in its unit. In order to vote, it is announced, a delegate must have with her her membership card.

Woman's Club Will Meet Tuesday

A science in which much study and progress is being made at the present time, "The Science of Light and Seeing," will be the topic of Eugene B. Kruger, accomplished public speaker, when he addresses the Santa Ana Woman's club tomorrow at a 2 o'clock meeting in the Veterans' hall.

Winner of silver cups in local oratorical contests, Mr. Kruger is well known as a speaker, and is husband and son of two of the members of the club. On the program with his talk will be trumpet solos by Mrs. Harry Brackett.

At 1:30 p. m. the same day, Mrs. F. A. Martin, the president, will hold a short meeting of the executive board.

GUESTS SHARE DAY WITH FRIENDLY EIGHT

Mrs. John J. Vernon chose the St. Patrick motif when she entertained members of the Friendly Eight club and an extra table at a dessert bridge in her home on Valencia street.

Green tapers in crystal holders and little green place markers were in pretty contrast to the dainty white linens with which the small tables were laid, and places were laid for Mrs. H. F. Johnson, Mrs. F. A. Burkett, Mrs. R. E. McBurney, Mrs. Charles Rumell, Mrs. Robert Hockaday, Mrs. Lloyd Banks, Mrs. L. C. Davison, Mrs. R. K. King, Mrs. William Ritcher, Mrs. F. G. Kilbourn, Mrs. A. J. Anderson, and the hostess.

To Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Burkett went the first and second prizes, and a guest award went to Mrs. McBurney and traveling award to Mrs. Rumell.

Absent members were Mrs. George Palmer and Mrs. A. E. Anderson.

MUSICAL ARTS DINES TOMORROW

Reservations for tomorrow evening's dinner meeting of the Musical Arts society at the Doris Kathryn tearoom may still be made by calling Mrs. Jay Hamill, Mrs. Leslie Steffen, announced today.

The affair is open to members and their guests, and Miss Pauline Alderman of U. S. C. will speak on "Old Music in a New World."

Just keep on cultivating your sense of humor and don't for anything, let the neighbors know that your husband's reportorial tendencies "get your goat."

When, and if you can, learn to laugh wholeheartedly on all occasions, it will probably make your husband realize how ridiculous and petty his gossip is.

Yankees, British Get Into Feud

With characteristic Southern loyalty and love of country, Manly advanced the American idea in the case of babies, much to the annoyance of the equally loyal Muriel Snow, English nurse to the new arrival in Jimmie Bennett Downie's serial, "These, Our Neighbors."

The comparative qualities of American oranges and American Codfish were given a thorough twice-over in today's episode, broadcast from KVOE and other stations of the Mutual-Don Lee Broadcasting system from 3:30 to 3:45 in the afternoon and scheduled daily except Saturdays and Sundays at the same hour.

Quest Quickens In KVOE Serial

Enthusiastic followers of "Drums," particularly those who enjoy the more weird phases of William Farnum's mystery-adventure serial should not fail to hear the current episode on KVOE tonight at 6:45.

For Kiddies—Cotton and Crochet

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

You'll Love This in Colored String

PATTERN 5793

Some happy-go-lucky toll will adore this frock crocheted in merized cotton—an easy one for Mother or friend to make. The same, simple pattern's repeated throughout—a pattern stitch you'll memorize quickly. Finish off with a collar in small contrasting stitch, sew shiny buttons down the dainty bodice front and run bright ribbon through sleeves and waist. Pretty!—she's a frock to greet spring and summer days. In pattern 5793 you will find complete directions for making the dress shown in sizes 4, 6 and 8; illustrations of it and of all stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

THE BUNGE FAMILY

Let's see, inspectors, where was I?

Captured by native red-hot. Then you held up the ruby taken from the burned temple.

Oh yes, then...what's that? Brother. Half a sec while I have a word with that bounder.

Sir, you clumping through this library while I'm talking with these two inspectors.

Inspectors! Detectives! Ah what Scotland Yard would give to see that pair.

These twins. One of them gives me the creeps, too.

That bounder, Cad. I'll do him in some day soon. What a relief to get back to the jungle. I'll shove on with my story.
